

8 in 10

Canadians recognize Indigenous businesses strengthen the country's social fabric.

of Canadians recognize the importance of thriving Indigenous enterprises to the creation of sustainable economic opportunities for Indigenous peoples.

think Canadian corporations should help Indigenous entrepreneurs take their businesses to the next level.

agree Canadian corporations should include Indigenous owned and operated businesses in their supplier networks whenever possible.

of Canadians believe supporting strong Indigenous businesses is an important pathway to healing Canada's relationship with First Nations, Inuit and Métis people.

think companies doing business on or near First Nations, Inuit and Métis lands should obtain services from Indigenous businesses whenever possible.

73%

agree that Indigenous businesses have much to offer the Canadian economy.

seven
in ten

believe that on-going supports for Indigenous companies, such as training and mentoring, should be a long-term priority for Canadian corporations.